In the case of a few others, they may have to be given up because there will be no proportion between the expenditure involved and the benefits to be obtained from them. On these and similar grounds, the Government will be precluded from immediately sanctioning them or taking action on them. The Members should not therefore consider that the Government have not bestowed attention on those matters. The Government orders on questions brought up before the Assembly are published in the Gazette only in important matters. In other matters also, the Government consider the representations carefully and pass orders. What I would wish to impress upon you is that every one of the representations brought up here does receive careful consideration at the hands of Government.

67. Provision of a public tank for bathing purposes in the town of Colachel.

Mr. T. Raman Pillai (Member, T. I. C., Colachel) said that Vellayakulam, situated in the north-eastern corner of the town, served only a limited portion of the people of the town. In the other parts, there was no public tank and the people suffered greatly for want of a tank for communal purposes. There was a small tank in front of the local higher grade elementary school. It now measured about 30 cents in extent. It could be easily filled with Kodayar water and, if outlets were provided for draining away the unclean water, the tank would serve the people of the town. In reply to the Dewan's query, he said that the local Town Improvement Committee was not in a position to spend the small fund at its disposal in improving the tank. He therefore requested the Government to take up the improvement of the tank at an early date. The cost would not exceed Rs. 1,000.

Dewan's reply.—Noted.

68. Construction of a bridge at the Kuravara Mandapam kadavu in the Ottasekharamangalam pakuthi.

R. Narayana Pillai (Member, Neyyattinkara taluk) said that the road from Kattakadai to Ottasekharamangalam and other places crossed the Neyyar at the Kuravaramandapathu kadavu. Passengers, especially school boys, were put to difficulties for want of a bridge at the place. Petitions were sent to the Chief Engineer and the Government showing the necessity for a bridge there. He requested that a bridge might be ordered to be constructed at the place.

Dewan's reply.—A ferry-boat has been ordered to be provided at the landing. There is no necessity for a costly bridge there, as the road at the place is not cartable.

69. Repair of the four irrigation sluices in the Mamanapalli river.

Mr. V. Kunjukrishna Pillai (Member, T. I. C., Attungal) said that there were four anicuts over the Mamanpalli river, viz., (1) Puthramoola, (2) Karamoola, (3) Chenganathu, and (4) Sarkara. The first anicut, viz., Puthramoola, was in a dangerous condition. It was once repaired in 1085 but it again went into disrepair. If the necessary repairs were not effected immediately, the whole thing would soon give way. The other three sluices were leaking and required only small repairs. He requested that the village Puramoola be taken in hand at once and repaired.

Reply.—An estimate for Rs. 3,000 has been sanctioned for the restoration of what is called the old anicut near the Mamom river. The Chief Engineer will be asked to look into the matter.

70. Opening of some roads in the town of Quilon.

Mr. Koyakutti Mahomed Kunju (Member, Trading Classes, Quilon) said that the opening of the following three roads was necessary in the interests of the merchants of Quilon :—

(1) A road from the southern side of Messrs. Harrison and Crossfields Company's buildings towards the east as far as the Assistant Excise Commissioner's office, for a distance of about three furlongs. There was an old road at the place now no longer in existence. The road, if restored, would enable the merchants to cart away the goods from where they were unloaded from steamers.
